National Webinar – An Army Way to Success
Organized by N.C.C. and Internal Quality Assurance Cell

With the 75th Independence Day around the corner, N.C.C and Internal Quality Assurance Cell arranged an online talk for N.C.C. cadets, students and faculty, on 13th August 2021.

About the Resource Person:

The speaker was an eminent Indian Army personal, Colonel Jayant Kumar Ghosh, who in a very simple and lucid language captured the attention of the audiences.

He is a B Pharmacy, and an MBA.

Has served in almost all the important sectors in the North, North East and the Western Borders in varied terrains from the sub-zero temperatures of the high altitude to the hot and dusty deserts, thick jungles of the north east. Besides the tenures seen in Insurgency, operation Vijay and other areas has had man management responsibilities having more than 500 men under him at a given time, as well as logistics and administration.

He has been awarded Commendation Card for devotion to duty during Independence Day.

An avid white-water rafter, was a part of the first successful expedition on the Teesta River, an amateur photographer and nature lover and has love for the outdoors. He is now actively involved in grooming the youth through the NCC, and has more than 6000 cadets trained under him. He has been successfully guiding cadets to become Officers in the Army and also other carriers. Sir has been instrumental in training cadets for the junior National hockey and also the Best cadet competition at the Republic day parade at New Delhi.

Objectives:

The objectives of the Webinar were as follows:

- Importance of N.C.C. for the youth
- Why youth should join the armed forces
- Tips for attempting government exams
